AAC – 2      UNCG Lab School (Dunn)

Background Information

In the recent legislative session, Chapter 116 of the General Statutes was amended to require the UNC Board of Governors to select eight universities to establish eight laboratory schools in low performing school districts. UNC GA recently informed the legislature that UNCG will open a lab school in the second year of the cycle (Fall 2018). The UNCG School of Education will explore opportunities with area low performing districts and determine the best course of action in response to this requirement.
